How to post compliantly

Over the last few years, regulators have increasingly focused on statements and claims made on social media, including the use of images and hashtags. Any post that conveys the following is likely to be reviewed by regulators, deemed non-compliant and therefore must be avoided:

- A level or range of gross or net income or profits, including, but not limited to, representations that suggest the ability to make lifestyle purchases such as homes, vehicles, vacations, etc., that are related to income earned from direct selling.
- Marketing materials or advertising describing or promising potential income amounts or demonstrating extraordinary or lavish lifestyles of sales force members enabled by their participation in direct selling.

Norwex has provided you with pre-approved Opportunity Claims for you to use in promoting your business. It is important that you use these claims as written and do not amend them. If there is a disclaimer or URL, it must also be replicated when you post it on social media or use it with collateral.

In some cases you will want to accompany the “claim” with images and or hashtags. It is important that you use images that are also compliant. Avoid obvious images of wealth such as expensive cars, homes, jewelry, etc.

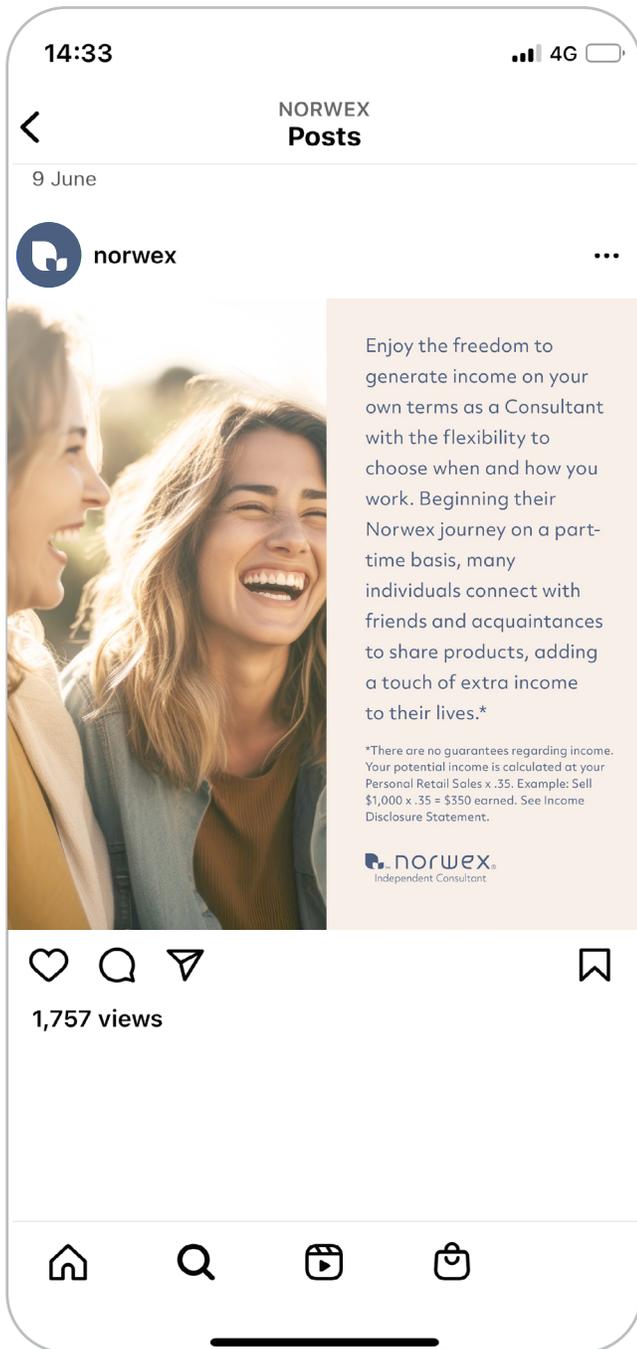

The same rules apply to hashtags (#). Ensure that when you use hashtags with the official Norwex Opportunity Claims you choose hashtags that are compliant. Avoid words or phrases that imply an earning claim. The following are examples of words that are not compliant to use as hashtags:

#wealthy	#virtual income
#get rich	#retire early
#sell itself	#free car
#afford anything	#be set for life
#afford everything	#million-dollar club
#retire early	#thousands of dollars
#pay bills	#six-figure income
#financial freedom	#fire your boss
#fast money	#the sky is the limit
#secondary income	#no ceiling on income
#significant income

On the following pages are examples of posts that are compliant vs. non-compliant.
